

Trail Mapping for Banff Park Visitors;

Alison Buckingham and Dan Teleki, Banff National Park, Canada

alison.buckingham@pc.gc.ca      dan.teleki@pc.gc.ca

Alison and Dan described the design of the Sundance Canyon trailhead poster. This trail starts at the Cave and Basin Hot Springs; the discovery of the springs was the initial reason behind the establishment of Banff as Canada's first national park in 1885 (and the third oldest in the world).

Throughout most of its long history, the short 2 km loop trail leading through Sundance Canyon was accessible by road from the town of Banff. In the mid 1980s, the road beyond the Cave and Basin was converted to a paved walking and cycling path, which made the trip longer but more scenically varied.

A selection of hiking brochures for Banff National Park can be found at:

<http://www.pc.gc.ca/eng/pn-np/ab/banff/visit/brochures.aspx>